

True Potential SEI Cautious

31 March 2025

Fund objective

The Fund aims to provide growth and income by investing directly and indirectly in a selected range of investments in the UK and around the world, mainly in other investment funds which have a global equity and fixed income focus.

March Update

Developed market shares posted steep declines, mainly due to the imposition of Trump's tariffs on autos, steel and aluminium, and the expectation of a broader tariff announcement in early April. US equities fared the worst against the backdrop of rising stagflation concerns. Emerging Market (EM) equities outperformed, supported by fresh stimulus measures in China. In fixed income, US Treasuries outpaced UK Gilts and German Bunds, with global credit and high-yield bonds posting losses. Elsewhere, gold rallied as investors sought safe-haven assets.

The True Potential SEI Cautious Fund declined 1.83% (net of fees). In a weak month for developed-market equities, the Fund's allocation to the asset class was negative. All the allocations to index funds that track global equity factors delivered negative returns, with the 'momentum' factor faring the worst. Conversely, the 'value', 'quality' and 'low volatility' factors also declined in absolute terms, but still outpaced global equities. The Fund's allocation to EM equities via the SEI Emerging Markets Equity Fund also hindered returns but outperformed the broader asset class. The fixed income segment also detracted, yet outpaced equities overall. A large global core bonds segment delivered positive returns and outperformed UK Gilts as US Treasury yields edged lower towards the end of the month. Conversely, the Fund's US dollar exposure was a detractor in a strong month for sterling. Elsewhere, the allocation to the SEI Liquid Alternatives Fund provided a negative contribution.

Performance Risk	Investment objectives express an intended result but there is no guarantee that such a result will be achieved. Depending on market conditions and the macro-economic environment, certain investment types and styles may perform better than others and investment objectives may become more difficult to achieve.
Counterparty Risk	There may be cases where the organisation from which we buy a derivative, or an asset, fails to meet its obligations. The Fund's cash deposits are also subject to counterparty risk.

Exchange Rate Risk	The Fund may invest in securities not denominated in GBP. The value of your investments may be affected by changes in currency exchange rates.
Liquidity Risk	Certain market conditions could make sufficiently liquid assets difficult to sell quickly at a fair price. This could result in an unpredictable fall in the value, and overall liquidity of the Fund.
