

True Potential Aggressive Portfolio

Portfolio Objective

The objective of the True Potential Aggressive Portfolio is to provide investors with a way to achieve their investment goals. The Portfolio offers full exposure to different manager styles within the Aggressive risk profile. We review the Portfolio monthly and, if necessary, rebalance to the allocation of styles that we believe offers the best opportunity for growth within the Aggressive risk profile. The Portfolio aims to produce a higher risk-adjusted outcome at a lower average cost, compared to an equally-weighted model of Aggressive funds.

Risk Profile: Aggressive

The Aggressive Investor usually aims to maximise long-term expected returns rather than to minimise possible short-term losses. An Aggressive Investor values high returns relatively more and can tolerate both large and frequent fluctuations through time in portfolio value in exchange for a higher return over the long-term.

Investment Commentary

The True Potential Aggressive Portfolio produced a return of +0.93% for the month of August, net of Portfolio OCF.

August began with a sharp sell-off in global equities, led by the Japanese market falling by 20%. The move was triggered by a combination of factors, including a weak US employment report stoking recession fears and monetary tightening in Japan prompting a rapid reversal of carry trades funded in Yen. However, evidence of US economic resilience, particularly consumer spending, and indications from the Federal Reserve that moderating inflation would likely allow interest rate cuts to begin in September, provided relief and equities recovered fully, finishing the month positive. The US was the strongest performing market, with returns broadening out away from the technology sector, positive for a diversified US exposure. UK equities were weaker, partly due to strength in Sterling as UK economic data pointed to encouraging momentum. Positive returns were seen across global sovereign and corporate bond markets as yields moderated.

The True Potential UBS Aggressive fund provided the strongest returns against this backdrop, with the fund benefitting from its exposure to higher quality equities in the portfolio, which was one of the strongest performing equity factors over the month. The fund also benefitting from having the highest exposure to sovereign bonds in the portfolio, which provided positive returns as bond yields fell over the month.

Over the month, no changes were made to manager allocations within the Portfolios with the investment team believing positioning was optimal. Although no changes have been made to manager allocations, the True Potential manager cohort have been adjusting positioning. Examples include additions to US and UK equities in favour of European and Japanese companies.
