

True Potential Cautious Income Portfolio

Portfolio Objective

The objective of the True Potential Cautious Income Portfolio is to provide investors with a way to draw a secure, regular and growing income. The Portfolio offers exposure to a select group of investment partners and a range of risk profiles (Cautious to Growth), whilst remaining within the Cautious risk profile. We review the Portfolio monthly and, if necessary, rebalance to the allocation of styles we believe offers the best potential for yield within the Cautious risk profile. The Portfolio aims to produce a higher than average yield, compared to an equally-weighted model of True Potential Wealth Strategy income funds.

Risk Profile: Cautious

The Cautious Investor may be sensitive to short-term losses. A Cautious Investor's potential aversion to losses could compel them to shift into a more stable investment if significant short-term losses occur. Analysing the risk-return choices available, a Cautious Investor is usually willing to accept somewhat lower returns in order to assure greater safety of his or her investment.

In September 2024, the FCA updated its Packaged Retail Insurance and Investment Products (PRIIPS) guidance on how we disclose costs for closed-ended funds like investment trusts. This change is designed to give you a clearer picture of the actual costs that impact your investments. As a result, some of our fund OCFs (Ongoing Charges Figure) have significantly decreased, reflecting only the costs that directly affect the fund's assets.

Investment Commentary

The True Potential Cautious Income Portfolio produced a return of -1.03% for the month of October, net of Portfolio OCF.

October proved to be a challenging month for asset market returns. Within fixed income, the resilience of the US economy and uncertainty around possible policy changes post-election led to a gradual repricing of US interest rate cuts. Against this backdrop, yields climbed higher and prices fell for US Treasuries. UK gilt pricing also suffered against a backdrop of elevated borrowing from the UK budget. Global equities in sterling terms finished higher on the month, however the US was the only region to produce a positive return. Sterling depreciated against the US Dollar which pushed up US equity returns in sterling. Chinese equities were lacklustre as optimism faded with stimulus levels not yet reaching investor expectations.

The True Potential Waverton Income fund outperformed the other funds within the Portfolio. The fund benefitted from strong performance from some its US equity holdings, as well as from having the largest exposure to US Dollar in currencies. The True Potential Threadneedle Monthly Income fund's equity allocation being solely invested in the UK was a headwind to returns.

Over October, no change was made to manager allocations within the Portfolio with the Investment team believing that positioning is optimal. Although no changes have been made to manager allocations, the True Potential manager cohort have been adjusting positioning. Examples include additions to government bonds, both in the UK and overseas, as well as to UK equities.
