

True Potential Balanced Income Portfolio

Portfolio Objective

The objective of the True Potential Balanced Income Portfolio is to provide investors with a way to draw a secure, regular and growing income. The Portfolio offers exposure to a select group of investment partners and a range of risk profiles (Cautious to Growth), whilst remaining within the Balanced risk profile. We review the Portfolio monthly and, if necessary, rebalance to the allocation of styles we believe offers the best potential for yield within the Balanced risk profile. The Portfolio aims to produce a higher than average yield, compared to an equally-weighted model of True Potential Wealth Strategy income funds.

Risk Profile: Balanced

The Balanced Investor may be somewhat concerned with short-term losses and may shift to a more stable option in the event of significant losses. The safeties of investment and return are typically of equal importance to the Balanced Investor.

In September 2024, the FCA updated its Packaged Retail Insurance and Investment Products (PRIIPS) guidance on how we disclose costs for closed-ended funds like investment trusts. This change is designed to give you a clearer picture of the actual costs that impact your investments. As a result, some of our fund OCFs (Ongoing Charges Figure) have significantly decreased, reflecting only the costs that directly affect the fund's assets.

Investment Commentary

The True Potential Balanced Income Portfolio produced a return of +2.41% over the month of November, net of Portfolio OCF.

Asset markets in November were positive with equities providing the highest overall returns, primarily driven by the US election. Donald Trump's victory and the Republican majority in both chambers of Congress fuelled expectations that the next government policies will extend American exceptionalism in the economy and thereby support corporate earnings growth. Against this background, US equities reached an all-time high with Trump promising favourable policies for corporates such as lower tax rates and de-regulation.

In fixed income markets, despite the Federal Reserve and the Bank of England lowering interest rates in the month, bonds only marginally benefitted. Concerns that Trump's policy proposals could reignite inflation in 2025 limited returns from US Treasuries. UK Gilts rebounded as initial concerns following the UK Budget announcement eased. In currency markets, Sterling depreciated against the US Dollar but strengthened against the Euro over the month.

Against this backdrop, the True Potential Threadneedle Monthly Income fund produced the strongest return, benefitting from strong stock selection within its UK equity allocation. Performance from the fund's consumer goods companies was particularly strong. In fixed income, the fund's allocation to UK Gilts supported performance, as falling bond yields meant total returns were positive over the month.

Over the month, no changes were made to manager allocations in November within the portfolio with the investment team believing positioning was optimal. Although no changes have been made to manager allocations, the True Potential manager cohort have been adjusting positioning. Examples include additions to UK and US equities in favour of Europe.
