

True Potential Threadneedle Monthly Income

31 December 2024

Fund objective

The Fund aims to achieve regular income growth with prospects of capital growth. Income will be paid monthly where the level of income within the Fund allows.

December Investment Manager commentary

Major stock markets ended the year on a negative note, weighed down by a stronger US dollar and weakened expectations for further interest-rate cuts in the US. The Federal Reserve cut rates by 0.25% but raised inflation forecasts for 2025. Government bonds struggled due to rising US Treasury yields and political instability in Europe. Gold prices fell, and a short-lived oil rally was impacted by weakening global demand.

The True Potential Threadneedle Monthly Income fund fell 0.16% (net of fees) in December. The fund's higher equity exposure relative to other True Potential income managers detracted in a month of negative equity returns. More positively, the overweight to UK equities proved beneficial as UK shares outperformed their global peers in local-currency terms. At the stock level, notable contributors included British education company Pearson, insurer Legal & General and pest control giant Rentokil. On the other side, British Telecom, packaging firm DS Smith and consumer goods company Unilever were among notable detractors. In fixed income, the allocation to UK corporate bonds underperformed. At the issuer level, telecoms firm AT&T, utility E.ON and GE Capital hindered relative returns. Conversely, property firm Aroundtown and UK lender Virgin Money provided positive contributions.

Risks

The following are some of the key risks associated with investing in this Fund. For a complete list of risks, please refer to the Fund's prospectus, available at www.truepotential.co.uk/fund-documents. Please be aware that there is no guarantee that capital will be preserved.

Risk type	Description
Performance Risk	Investment objectives express an intended result but there is no guarantee that such a result will be achieved. Depending on market conditions and the macro-economic environment, certain investment types and styles may perform better than others and investment objectives may become more difficult to achieve.
Counterparty Risk	There may be cases where the organisation from which we buy a derivative, or an asset, fails to meet its obligations. The Fund's cash deposits are also subject to counterparty risk.
Derivative Risk	The Fund is entitled to use derivatives. Derivatives may not achieve their intended purpose. Their prices may move up or down significantly over relatively short periods of time which may result in losses greater than the amount paid.
Operational Risk	The Fund faces non-market risk, relating to purchasing, holding and servicing the Fund's assets.
Credit Risk	Where the Fund invests in bonds, there is a risk the bond issuer may fail to meet its repayments. Changes in interest rates, inflation and the creditworthiness of the bond issuer may also affect the bond's market value. This risk is particularly relevant where the fund invests in bonds with a lower credit rating.
Liquidity Risk	Certain market conditions could make sufficiently liquid assets difficult to sell quickly at a fair price. This could result in an unpredictable fall in the value, and overall liquidity of the Fund.
